

Five Chinese Are Appointed To Negotiate Red Peace Pact

Nanking, Jan. 22 (AP)—China's tottering government tonight announced the appointment of five delegates to negotiate peace with the Communists.

Heading the delegation will be Shao Li-tze, a veteran advocate of peace between the Nationalists and the Reds.

Appointment of the peace mission came a few hours after acting President Li Tsung-jen assumed the powers of Chiang Kai-shek, who retired yesterday after 22 years at the helm of Nationalist China.

(There apparently was still no indication that the Communists would deal with the government on anything except Red terms.)

Li's intention to send a peace delegation was announced earlier in the day at a tea party of government officials.

Up To Reds

Appointed with Shao were Chang Chih-chung, government commander in northwest China, and three relatively minor officials, Huang Shao-hsiung, Peng Chao-hsien, and Chung Tien-hsing.

Chang was one of General Marshall's committee of three which tried to reach a settlement in the civil war shortly after Japan's surrender. Chang has been an outspoken proponent of peace.

A government statement announced that the five delegates "are ready to start peace negotiations with delegates of the Chinese Communist party at a suitable place to be agreed upon by both sides."

A government spokesman said the Executive Yuan (cabinet) approved the statement as a formal resolution.

The move puts the issue squarely up to the Communists whether they will deal with a Nanking government minus Chiang Kai-shek.

SUV TO CHECK ON 'FORGOTTEN' BURIAL GROUNDS

A committee headed by the Rev. Willis Doyle was appointed Friday night by the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Union Veterans to work out arrangements together with other organizations for the care of the number of old and semi-abandoned cemeteries in the county.

The committee was named after Dr. C. B. Stouffer pointed out that many of the old cemeteries are in "a terrible condition, many so grown in weeds that it is impossible to get into them. Stones have cracked and fallen over and their general condition can be described only as 'forgotten'."

In the discussion following Doctor Stouffer's suggestion, it was pointed out that there are funds available in trusts for many of the cemeteries, and that for many years it has been impossible to secure any person to care for the cemeteries.

Install Officers

The committee appointed by the Sons of Veterans was instructed to determine just what funds can be secured, and whether it is possible to secure a man to devote full time to the work, caring for all of the old cemeteries in an attempt to put them back into good condition.

Named to the committee besides the Rev. Mr. Doyle were George Coshun, Attorney Donald P. McPherson, Jr., and Doctor Stouffer.

The Rev. Mr. Doyle was also named as chairman of the local camp's sesqui-centennial committee to be in charge of the local group's participation in the 1950 sesqui-centennial activities in the county.

Others named to that committee were Dr. Joseph H. Riley, Harry G. Destrack, Attorney William L. Meals and Doctor Stouffer.

Plans for a dinner meeting honoring Lincoln's birthday in February were outlined with Doctor Riley named to head the committee in charge. That group was named as Doctor Riley, W. Preston Hull, Carleton Poole, and the Rev. Mr. Doyle.

HOLD INQUEST IN DEATH OF N. Y. MOTORIST

A coroner's jury found Friday afternoon that Miss Catherine Keilholtz, 24, Taneytown R. 2, who faces an involuntary manslaughter charge in the death of a New York motorist, was on the left side of the highway, attempting to pass another vehicle near the crest of a hill when the fatal collision occurred.

Newman A. Vosbury, 40, Fayetteville, N. Y., died in the Warner hospital about two hours after the accident which occurred on the Emmitsburg road about six miles south of here early on the afternoon of December 30. Five other persons, including Miss Keilholtz, were injured in the head-on crash.

Three witnesses testified at the inquest conducted in the court house by Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, and Miss Keilholtz made a voluntary statement. Witnesses were questioned by Dr. Crist, District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter and Attorneys Edgar K. Markley and Eugene V. Bulleit who represented Keilholtz interests.

Corporal Bartlett Testifies

Mrs. Vosbury, widow of the victim of the crash, is at her home near Syracuse, N. Y., and did not attend the inquest upon advice of her physician.

The first witness was Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, Warner hospital surgeon. He said Vosbury was admitted to the hospital in "profound shock" and died of a crushed chest within two hours without regaining consciousness.

Corporal Jack Bartlett, who made the state police investigation, described the accident scene and showed state police photos of the scene and the wrecked cars. He said he found the cars with their fronts locked together at the east (Please Turn to Page 2)

OFFICER SAYS U.S. POSITION IS UNTENABLE

"Militarily the United States is in an almost untenable position due to its geographic location," Lt. Col. LeRoy V. Greene, commanding officer of the Second Battalion, 315th Infantry, U. S. Army Reserve, declared Friday evening in a talk before the local company of the battalion.

Visiting Company E on the occasion of its first meeting in new quarters in the Albert J. Lentz American Legion building, Colonel Greene used a polar projection map to sustain his contention that "geographically, the United States is outflanked by its possible enemy, Russia, and so we must develop a tremendous defense program if we wish to survive."

All of the land mass in the northern hemisphere clings to the North Pole. We must revise our thinking. We have lived long with a conception of the world which was made for navigators but which actually gives a completely erroneous idea of the position of the various nations.

Fly Polar Region

"Gettysburg, for example, is just as far from any point in Russia as it is from Berlin. Flights over the North Pole are routine, and the Russians proved it to us by flying over it. To aviators the cold, forbidding mass of ice that is the Polar region becomes merely something marked on a map. It is no more difficult to fly over ice than it is to fly over land or oceans."

APPOINTED SECRETARY

Officers of Gettysburg Camp No. 7263, Modern Woodmen of America, have been notified, in a letter from J. G. Ray, national secretary, of the appointment of Perry J. Tawney, 231 Hanover street, as secretary of the local lodge, to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Harry Daugherty.

McCLEAN WILL FILED

The will of Olivia C. McClean, of Gettysburg, has been entered for probate in the office of the register and recorder. Frances McClean Topper, Baltimore street, and Meta Stock Hand, East Middle street, are executors.

Stoops Picture Is Voted First Place

A print displayed by Maurice Stoops won first place in the monthly print show of the Gettysburg Photographic society held Friday evening at the home of Edward Stine, West Middle street. Ten members and two guests attended. Twelve prints were entered for judging.

A print made by Paul G. Pensing placed second while entries by Wayne Weagly and Joseph D. Kendeheart placed third.

The society discussed plans for the fourth annual Gettysburg Photographic show to be held at the Gettysburg National bank building and talked over proposed changes in the society's constitution.

MRS. SCHWARTZ DIES SUDDENLY FRIDAY EVENING

Mrs. Minnie A. Schwartz, 72, wife of Ira S. Schwartz, died suddenly at her home, 605 Baltimore street, Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, investigated and attributed death to coronary thrombosis.

Mrs. Schwartz had been in her usual health Friday and had prepared supper. Upon finishing the evening meal she was stricken while aiding her husband who has been ill following a stroke 16½ months ago.

The deceased was born in Mt. Joy township, a daughter of the late Jacob A. and Barbara (Geyer) Hartman. She was a member of Grace Lutheran church, 20 Taverners, the Ladies' Aid society of the church and the Mary Gettys Rebekah lodge of Gettysburg of which she was a past noble grand.

Rites on Monday

She resided in Littlestown 12 years and in Hanover three years before coming to Gettysburg 10 years ago.

Surviving are her husband, with whom she observed her 50th wedding anniversary in December; two children, Clarence L., Littlestown postmaster, and Mrs. Glenn R. Little, Gettysburg; three grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Franklin Miller, Mrs. John A. Myers and Mrs. Claude W. Harner, all of Littlestown; one brother, Paul G. Hartman, Lansdale; a half sister, Mrs. Emma Shriver, Philadelphia, and a half brother, Dr. H. M. Hartman, Springs avenue.

Funeral services Monday at 2 p. m. from the Bender funeral home conducted by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Myers. Interment in Evergreen cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday evening after 7 o'clock.

Crash Survivors Hang For 20 Hours

Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 22 (AP)—Peter Palmero hung for 20 hours upside down before he and Capt. R. D. Land, the pilot, were cut free yesterday from the wreckage of an Alaska Airlines DC-3 transport plane. Four others died when the plane piled into a hillside on the Kenai Peninsula Thursday night.

Rescue crews reported the body of stewardess Lucina Nime of Everson, Wash., had not been found. Feminine clothing was seen in a tangle of debris in the middle of the wreckage and it was assumed her body was there. Also aboard were co-pilot Robert Stevens of Seattle, Roscoe Spears, of Dillingham, Alaska, and Stanley Hillman of Anchorage.

Palmero, a San Francisco man, was in critical condition and Land, whose home is Anchorage, in serious condition at a hospital here. Both had frozen feet along with other injuries.

The rescuers, who at first thought there were no survivors, had started to hack their way into the wreckage when they heard a shout. They found Palmero hanging upside down, unable to unfasten his safety belt.

Dairymen Fined On Milk Price Charges

Selingsgrove, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—Three Snyder county dairymen paid fines of $50 each for selling milk 3½ cents below the price set by the state Milk Control Commission.

The three, Gard H. Fisher, Kreamer; Frank Shirey, Beaver Springs, and Reno Thomas, of Beavertown, paid the fines before a justice of the peace here Thursday.

J. E. Erb, state dairy agent charged the three with selling milk at 18 cents a quart and making deliveries more often than every other morning. Commission law prohibits deliveries to retail customers more often than once every 48 hours.

PLAN TO MARRY

A marriage license application has been filed in Harrisburg by Earl W. Rohrbach, Jr., New Oxford R. 1, and Mary M. Murray, Camp Hill.

This picture, taken at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawver, who reside in an apartment in the Eddie Plank memorial gymnasium at Gettysburg college, shows five generations, beginning with Mrs. Anna M. Weikert, 80, seated. Standing, left to right, are Leroy C. Chronister, 22, Hanover, a great-grandson; Mrs. Verna Chronister, 39, Littlestown, mother of Leroy, and granddaughter of Mrs. Weikert, and Mrs. Edward Kroushouer, 56, of Seven Stars, mother of Mrs. Chronister and daughter of Mrs. Weikert. The little girl in the front row is Sandra Lee Chronister, 19 months, a great-great-granddaughter.

Mrs. Weikert makes her home with Mrs. Lawver at the gym apartment. She was born in Franklin township, the former Anna Lochbaum, and lived on a farm there for 40 years. Her husband, the late Charles Weikert, died in 1904. The Lawvers lived with her on the farm until four years ago, when Mr. Lawver accepted the position as janitor at the gymnasium, and Mrs. Weikert moved here with them.

Surprise Shower Is Given Miss Thomas

A surprise miscellaneous wedding shower was given Friday evening in honor of Miss Betty L. Thomas, of Biglerville, by Miss Violetta Rosensteel, 229 Baltimore street.

Guests present were: Miss Violetta Rosensteel, hostess, Miss Ethel Whitaker, Mrs. Carroll Zentz, Mrs. Druid Deitch, Mrs. Charles Baird, Mrs. Luther Shyrook, Mrs. Gladys Orner, and Mrs. E. F. Rosensteel.

The guest of honor received many useful gifts. Cards were played and prizes given. An informal buffet luncheon was served.

White bells were suspended from a chandelier over the table by white satin ribbon. Streamers were attached to the bells to favor of a miniature bride and bridesmaids in interchanging colors of yellow and green. Beneath the bells were a miniature bride and bridegroom surrounded by greens and flowers intertwined.

Miss Thomas' engagement was recently announced to Robert L. Shryock, 252 Chambersburg street. The wedding will take place next week.

WARREN SALES UNVEILS NEW MODELS TODAY

Warren Chevrolet Sales today unveiled the 1949 Chevrolet in an auto show held in its garage on York street.

On display were two of the new Fleetline sedans, and three of the new trucks which mark the first all new design post-war car put out by the company. Previously the company put out cars that were modifications of the 1941 design of the Chevrolet and the new model is the first that contains all of the new features planned for the post-war car, Richard Warren, of the local agency said today.

The new cars appear to be larger and more streamlined than previous Chevrolet models, and feature five foot wide seats. Additional visibility is given by a wider curved windshield and thinner windshield pillars. The company advertises that the car has 30 per cent more window area all-around than previous models.

STUDEBAKER'S MANAGER LAUDS EPLEY'S SHOW

"This is one of the finest automobile shows in the east," George E. Read, regional manager for the Studebaker Corporation, Philadelphia, said of the C. W. Epley automobile and truck show at a luncheon, given by Mr. Epley, at Schott's restaurant, Littlestown, Friday noon.

"We have been hearing about Epley's show for some time and we assumed it would be something like his exposition last year. However, this year surpasses anything he has ever done. All of us in the Philadelphia district want to see the show and all of us will. We had to leave four in the office today but they will be in Gettysburg before this show closes."

"This is an inspiration for all of us, especially our many dealers. They should see how Studebaker is presented in Gettysburg by Mr. Epley. It was positively amazing to me and I know it will be to them."

"Speaking for the Philadelphia region I want to congratulate Mr. Epley on the finest automobile and truck show in the east. His sense of showmanship exceeds anything in the east," Mr. Read declared.

Mr. Epley expressed his "thanks and appreciation" to the Studebaker officials and dealers who "visited my show today and accepted my invitation to this luncheon. I am at (Please Turn to Page 2)

Auto Passenger Hurt In Accident

George R. Noel, 35, of Hagerstown, was taken to the Warner hospital Friday afternoon with a laceration on the right side of his head which required two stitches, as the result of an automobile accident at 4:20 p. m. on the Lincoln highway six miles east of Gettysburg.

State police of the Gettysburg substation, who investigated, said an automobile operated by Howard Thompson Byler, 43, of Hagerstown, ran off the right side of the road as it was proceeding towards Gettysburg.

The car ran into the ditch and then scraped the bank. Noel, a passenger in the car, was thrown against the door. Minor damage was done to the car. Byler was not injured.

Women's Civic Council Urges Borough Garbage Collection, Comfort Station, Less Smoke

The Women's Civic Council of Gettysburg, meeting Friday evening at the YWCA, voted to urge the borough council to consider setting up a borough garbage collection system.

That suggestion was one of several adopted by the women's council in a lengthy session. They also expressed the hope that appropriate steps can be taken to wipe out the "smoke nuisance," that the railroads will reconsider their times for blocking the borough's streets with shifting trains and that the sponsors of carnivals next summer "put on a higher type of show, if it is necessary to have carnivals."

They also decided to visit the borough council and find out what is being done about a public comfort station for the borough.

The women commended the council for securing the new traffic lights which are due for installation in the near future and for purchasing the new street sweeper. In their discussion the women pointed out that the new street sweeper has "done wonders" in keeping the borough clean.

Regular Garbage Service

"Everyone in the community who has garbage removed from his home by private collectors must pay for it," the women pointed out, "and thus it would not cost any more to have the borough carry out the job." The lack of regularity on the part of some collectors is one reason for having a town system, the women pointed out. "Some collectors do all of their own work, and if they are ill there are no collections," one woman declared. Under a municipal system the town would be responsible for regular service and if one man is ill another can take his place, the council decided.

One of the problems concerning smoke will be easily solved, the women's group decided. Some railroads fine crew members who "blow out" their engines within a certain distance of towns, the council was told.

"Smoke Nuisance"

Many of the complaints presented to the civic group representing 12 local organizations who make up the women's civic council, concerned the railroad smoke. The council plans to make complaints to the railroads when the next such episode occurs.

The council also is planning to urge other industries to arrange for additional filters to prevent smoke from their chimneys polluting the air.

The shifting hours of the railroads led to a decision of the council to urge the railroads to do something about changing their shifting times. "The streets are blocked usually for long periods at about 20 minutes of nine and 11:20 o'clock in the morning," the women claimed. "Those hours," they say, "are the ones when children are going to and from school, and men are going to and from work."

Burgess Heiges will be approached and asked to investigate all carnivals before given them a permit to appear in the community.

Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the council, presided at the meeting. The next session will be held February 25.

SPORTSMEN TO HOLD FAIR ON MARCH 4 AND 5

Plans for a fair to be held March 4 and 5 at the Cashtown Fire hall were outlined Friday evening by the Adams County Fish and Game association at a meeting in the recreation rooms of the Arendtsville National bank.

Named to the committee for general arrangements were Floyd King, Claude Rebert, Harry Small, Donald Spensler and Kenneth Sites. Named to the second floor committee were Guy Seiford, Donald Bushman, Carl Carey, Harold Deardorff and Frank Raffensperger; third floor, Owen Bucher, Ray Biesecker, Donald Weikert, Richard Golden, Boyd Kump and Paul McLaughlin. Named to a ladies' committee were Mrs. Floyd King, Mrs. Melvin Kane, Mrs. Miles Biesecker, Mrs. Harold Deardorff, Mrs. Earl Christner, Mrs. Frank Miller and Mrs. Charles Weishaar.

Committees for the fair will also be appointed by the Women's Auxiliary of the Fish and Game, it was announced and a meeting of the joint committees for the fair will be held February 8 at a place to be announced.

Pennsylvania Hens Set New Records

Harrisburg, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania hens smashed all existing egg laying records last year, producing more than three billion eggs. The state Agriculture Department said the 1948 record exceeded the previous high in 1947 by two per cent. The 1948 total was 3,096,000,000 eggs.

Milk production by dairy cows also came close to the record last year with a total of 5,461 million pounds of milk. The record is 5,484 million pounds established in 1947.

December production accounted for the new egg record, the department said. There were 20,271,000 layers on farms, an all-time record for any month. December eggs totaled 272 million, nine per cent above the previous December record, set in 1947, of 250 million.

Favorable weather and liberal feeding caused the high December production of both milk and eggs, the department said.

Philadelphia May Get Cabinet Post

Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff may pick Arthur C. Kaufmann, president of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, as the state's next Secretary of Commerce, the Philadelphia Inquirer said today.

The paper reported that Duff has been impressed by Kaufmann's enterprise and activity as head of the Chamber in promoting the city's business interests.

Kaufmann, 46-year-old executive head of the Gimbel Bros. department store, could not be reached for comment on the report.

RED FLAG MAY SOON BE FLYING ABOVE CHINESE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's withdrawal (temporary or otherwise) from his 22-year-old dictatorship is tantamount to acknowledgement of defeat by the Chinese Communist armies which threaten his capital of Nanking.

We may be about to witness the unfurling of the Red flag over China. To be sure the generalissimo has left the fate of his tottering government in the hands of Vice President Li Tsung-jen and the cabinet. It is for them to deal with the victorious enemy at their gates.

Coalition Regime Possible What can come of that? Well, it's only a few days ago that the hard-boiled Communist leader, Mao Tse-tung, announced his terms for peace. In effect he demanded unconditional surrender, and called for complete reorganization of the nation.

Previously Mao had given out the names of those whom he would punish as war criminals. The generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek headed the list, which included numerous other national leaders.

Therefore we must conclude that the best offer the Nationalists could possibly expect after abject capitulation would be creation of a "coalition" government which would reactivate the tragedy which brought Poland and Czechoslovakia and the other satellites of Eastern Europe under the iron heel of Moscow.

Mountainous Task It's not unlikely that this is what will happen, though the situation is fluid. The government's alternative would be to fight it out with guns. That would be plain suicide, and while the Oriental code of honor often calls for such sacrifice, the offer of a "coalition" might ease the way for surrender.

Vice President Li Tsung-jen faces a mountainous task. The Nationalist armies are shattered. The Nationalist government itself is terribly disorganized, and now with Chiang gone is like a ship without a rudder, for he was the arbiter of all things. In short, Chiang was a real dictator of China. All important questions of war and peace were decided by him. In recent months he had even taken over personal direction of the fight against the Communists with results which brought from Defense Minister General Ho Ying-chin the assertion that he (General Ho) didn't know what was going on.

Moscow May Rule In any event, China may well have reached the end of the Chiang dictatorship. We may now see the substitution of totalitarian Communism which will take its orders from Moscow.

If that happens it will bring another half billion people under Russian domination. While the Democracies are better than holding their own in the cold war in the West, Moscow is winning heavily on the Eastern front.

Russian control of China would create a grave challenge to the Western world.

your service so long as you are in Gettysburg.

The local automobile dealer said that he had addressed 7,500 "valentine" invitations to Adams counties to visit his show and had mailed more than 27,000 post card invitations. He also announced that he had distributed more than 8,000 Studebaker pamphlets prior to the opening of the exposition.

He said that the valuation of the 54 automobiles and trucks on display was $102,489.83.

Judge W. C. Sheely spoke briefly complimenting Mr. Epley and extending "best wishes for your continued success."

Guests at the luncheon included: Mr. Read, regional manager; Lee McWilliams, district manager; B. M. Elliott, cashier; O. P. Hufstader, regional truck supervisor; H. L. Lyle, district manager; Richard Benedict, district manager; J. P. Wynn, assistant to regional manager, all of Philadelphia; M. L. Reynolds, manager parts department, Washington; Glenn Finney, district manager, Washington; Harold Johnson, district manager, Wilkes-Barre; M. L. Mumma, dealer, Harrisburg; John Pifer, sales manager, Harrisburg; John Shultz, president, and Robert F. Jones, cashier, People's Bank of Hanover; Dr. H. S. Stonifer, president, and Arthur E. Bair, cashier, Littlestown National bank; Judge W. C. Sheely, Paul L. Roy, George W. Boehner, Clarence W. Epley, Jr., Walter Trostle, Oscar Shaw and Harrison F. Snyder.

5 CHILDREN BURN

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Jan. 22 (AP)—Five small brothers and sisters perished last night in a fire at a combination junkshop-home frequently cited as "unsafe." The fire, in the village of Roseville, trapped the little victims in upstairs living quarters. They suffocated.

FIND MAN'S BODY

McAlister, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—The body of Harold D. Shellenberger, 27, was found in a car on his farm near here yesterday, apparently the victim of carbon monoxide poisoning. Juniata County Coroner Bard Brown pronounced the death a suicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Crabill, Gettysburg R. 4, who attended the presidential inauguration on Thursday, are remaining in Washington for a visit of several days with relatives. Their daughter, Mrs. Victor Woerner, Gettysburg R. 3, who accompanied them to Washington, has returned home.

Miss Elizabeth Stallsmith and Miss Martha Stallsmith, Washington, D. C., have been spending several days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Stallsmith, Lincoln-way east.

Mrs. Richard B. Naugle entertained at a kitchen shower at her home Friday night for Miss Mary Bittinger, whose marriage to Harold Sharpe will take place in the near future. The decorations were red and white hearts.

Four In Crew Of 12 Killed In Air Crash

Great Falls, Mont., Jan. 22 (AP)—Four of 12 crewmen were killed last night when a B-29 crashed into a snow blanketed field minutes after taking off from the Great Falls air base.

Three were dead in the wreckage when rescuers arrived nearly four hours later. The fourth died in the base hospital. Of the eight injured one is in critical condition.

The 15th Air Force plane was on a flight to its home base at Spokane, Wash., from the Smoky Hill base at Salina, Kans.

A crewman who was thrown clear trudged five miles through heavy snow back to the base to notify officials of the crash. Four wheel drive trucks were used to plow through four foot snowdrifts to evacuate the injured.

Honor For Truman On Groundhog Day

Quarryville, Pa., Jan. 22 (AP)—Come Groundhog Day, President Truman will get an honorary membership in the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs because in predicting his own election he "qualifies as a prophet as unfailing as Brother Groundhog himself."

In an annual proclamation W. U. Hensel, 3rd, secretary and bondless treasurer, commented: "The lodge proposes to put at the disposal of our new Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, a battalion of groundhogs. In a few hours they will dig so many holes under the Iron Curtain it will be ineffective and the cold war will be over."

Groundhog Day is February 2.

Wedding

NEW SNOW PILES INTO MIDWEST

(By The Associated Press)

New snow piled into the West today complicating the job of stockmen and government officials trying to save drift-bound cattle and sheep. Parts of Nevada, already covered with a snow measuring up to 17 inches, received most of the new blanket.

Meanwhile, the Fourth Air force was ready at Hamilton field, Calif., to inaugurate an airlift for livestock in Nevada, and other western states, but waited results of a conference in Washington.

At Ely, Nev., already under eight inches of snow, and one of the points hit by the new fall, George N. Swallow, secretary of the United Stockmen's associated estimated 70,000 sheep are in a critical condition because of lack of feed and exposure. Estimates placed the number of livestock endangered at 20,000.

The stock are in Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Utah in addition to Nevada. Senators of the six states yesterday met in Washington to ask for emergency legislation. One suggestion of the conference was that feed be dropped by Air Force planes. Planes from Lowry field, near Denver, Colo., have dropped more than 1,000 bales of hay and alfalfa in that area in the past two weeks.

The east got a touch of winter with Maine's first heavy snowstorm of the year. "At least a foot" was the prediction. Snow plows, hardly used this season, went into action to keep roads clear.

Oscar Null, all of South Mountain; one step-son, Garwood Swank, of Akron, O.; 19 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; two brothers, Daniel Staley, South Mountain, and Seward Staley, of Mont Alto; one sister, Mrs. Ella Chamberland, Mont Alto.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 1:30 from the home with service at the Second Church of God at 2 o'clock in charge of the Rev. James R. Reese. Interment in Strang's cemetery.

Friends may call this evening from 7 until 9 at the home on Corlis Ridge road, South Mountain.

Negotiation Ends Gas Workers' Strike

Camden, N. J., Jan. 22 (AP)—Nineteen hours of continuous negotiations ended today a strike of gas workers which crippled major industrial plants and threatened to cut off fuel supplies for the metropolitan Camden area's 100,000 domestic consumers.

Public Service Gas and Electric company and union officials reached an agreement at 8:15 a. m., for the immediate return of 465 strikers to their jobs.

The pact effected by government mediators provides for settlement around the conference table of the wage dispute which caused the walkout.

The strikers left their jobs in two public service plants Thursday. Supervisory employees kept up manufacture of gas for domestic consumers until a truce for delivery of coke broke down.

MAY PROPOSE REBUILDING GOP

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—A plan to rebuild the Republican party from the grass roots up, through state and regional conferences, may be proposed to the GOP National committee at Omaha, Neb., next week.

Senator Brewster of Maine told a reporter the idea of sectional meetings has been discussed by the Senate Republican Policy committee.

The Senate group yesterday demanded that the National committee consult with the lawmakers before calling any national policy-drafting conference such as suggested by GOP Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr. It instructed Brewster and Senators Capehart of Indiana, Wherry of Nebraska and Butler of Nebraska to urge the party group to name a committee at its Omaha meeting to study the national conference plan, but to delay any actual call until later.

HARRY TO HARRIET

Maidstone, Eng., Jan. 22 (AP)—For 29 years a parrot named Harry enlivened the doings at the Bull Inn pub (tap room), squawking at all customers. Yesterday—for the first time—Harry laid an egg. Today the management announced that henceforth Harry will be known as Harriet.

edge of the highway. The Keilholtz car was headed south and the New York machine north.

Quotes Statements

The officer quoted Mrs. Vosbury as having told him her husband had been driving north at about 40 miles an hour as they topped the crest of a hill and saw the Keilholtz car approaching on their side of the road. She said Mr. Vosbury braked and swerved off the right side of the road. The other car turned the same way and the machines collided.

Corporal Bartlett talked with Miss Keilholtz after the crash and was told by her that she was trying to pass a large truck when she saw the New York car coming. "She said she knew she couldn't get back on her side of the road so she swerved left in an effort to avoid the other car but they collided," the officer said.

The officer said the collision occurred about 210 feet south of the beginning of a solid white line and added that Miss Keilholtz was to the left side of that line when she crashed 150 feet below the crest of the hill.

Injured Man Quizzed

Verle C. Schumacher, 24, Leechburg, Pa., a student at the Lutheran Theological seminary here who was a passenger in the Keilholtz car, testified from a chair by counsel table with his right leg resting on pillows. He walks with crutches as the result of a fractured kneecap received in the fatal crash.

Miss Keilholtz, who said this was her first accident since being licensed nearly two years ago, testified she never drives over 40 miles an hour and is "afraid to pass." She said she had pulled to the left twice to make sure the road ahead was clear before she attempted to pass what she said Friday she believes was a house trailer pulled by a car. She said she sounded her horn and was nearly passed the trailer or truck when she saw the Vosbury car coming. She said the trailer vehicle's speed had increased while she attempted the pass but Corporal Bartlett said she had not mentioned this circumstance previously to him.

The witness said that because she was afraid she could not complete the pass and could not get in back of the trailer in time, she braked and swerved left in the hope of evading the other car in that manner.

Members of the coroner's jury were Harold Cromwell, Fred Wright, Robert F. Saylor, Jr., Curvin Krout, Edward Crist and Hugh C. McIlhenry.

NEW T-V CHANNELS

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Opening of new television channels that will permit new stations to begin operation is foreseen this year by the Federal Communications commission. The new channels would be in the ultra high frequencies. FCC Chairman Wayne Coy said yesterday that opening of new channels "offers the hope" that many applicants for stations "can start construction this year, especially in cities where no provisions have been made in the present band."

OFFICER SAYS FATAL BLAZE IS CAUSED BY FILM (Continued From Page 1) Philadelphia, Jan. 22 (AP)—A boy was burned fatally and seven other persons fled to safety as a fire that started in a reel of motion picture film damaged a home in suburban Bala. Christopher Ryan, five, died last night in Bryn Mawr hospital. He had been carried from the room where he was trapped, by a volunteer fireman who risked his own life in the futile rescue effort. Christopher, his 13-year-old brother, David, and a friend, John Gorski, had been using a home movie projector before the fire started. Some of the film was scattered about the floor and became ignited when the projector jammed. A spark fell on the film. David and the Gorsky boy, both close to the door, fled as the quick-spreading flames engulfed the room. Other persons in the home also ran to safety and sounded an alarm. Frank Burdo, president of the West Manayunk Fire company, heard the alarm at a nearby plan where he is employed and ran to the home. He broke down a door to get into the cellar and found Christopher slumped in a corner. The fire wrecked the cellar and most of the first floor of the dwelling.

Maroons Lace Hanover 49-39; Win Tuesday Will Create Tie

Gettysburg high school's basketball team played one of its best games of the season, particularly for the first half, Friday evening to lace the Hanover high cagers 49-39 before the largest crowd of the campaign and thereby remain tied one game back of the league-leading Chambersburg team.

The Maroons can deadlock the half race when they clash with Chambersburg on the Trojans' court Tuesday evening. A win for the Forney-men would mean a playoff for the first half honors.

Bill Bushman's sensational shooting and all around work, especially in the first half, sparked the Maroons. Bushman looped 11 goals during the evening, connecting on six 10 shots in the first half.

Dazzle Visitors
The locals gave a dazzling exhibit in the first half when they punched the Nighthawk zone defense most at will while limiting the opposition to but a single goal in each of the periods.

Coach Forney's lads controlled the boards most of the first half rough some fine work on the part of Bushman, Westerhahl and Donaldson while Elsenhart and Sachs slipped in with nice back court play.

At half time the Forney-men held commanding 28-10 lead.

Two goals by Bushman and a foul and goal by Knox sent the lead to 40-10 opening the third quarter. A late Hanover move out of a zone defense to play a pressing game and the new style upset the team although a number of serves were in action. At the close of the third period the score stood 49-19.

Jayvees Beaten

Hanover, led by Wendler who dropped four goals through, outscored Gettysburg in the final stanza at Bushman got away for a trio of lay ups to keep the Maroons well out in front.

In the preliminary game the Hanover Jayvees gained a 32-21 decision. Three goals in the last 45 seconds of the first half gave the visitors a 17-6 lead at intermission and Coach Shoemaker's lads could never make up the deficit.

Western Maryland "5" Here Tonight

Western Maryland's cagers will come here this evening for an engagement with the Gettysburg college quintet, hopeful of handing the Bullets their second straight jolt.

The Bullets, victors in six of nine contests, are set for a stiff game and ready to inaugurate a new winning streak.

At 7 o'clock the freshmen team will tangle, with the locals gunning for their fifth win in as many starts.

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO
Severe Gale Sweeps Gettysburg: Considerable damage was reported in Gettysburg and Adams county Sunday as this section felt the force of the gale that swept North Atlantic states. The wind reached a velocity in excess of fifty miles an hour.

Board Selects Dr. C. H. Johnson as Pathologist: Upon the recommendation of the medical staff of the Warner hospital the board of directors at a special meeting at the Nurses' home Friday evening elected Dr. C. H. Johnson as acting pathologist at the hospital.

That action was taken after the board had accepted the resignation of Dr. Henry Stewart who will continue as a member of the staff and as staff secretary. Doctor Stewart has been a member of the staff since the hospital opened nearly 18 years ago.

Arthur James Becomes 34th Pa. Governor: Harrisburg, Jan. 17 (AP)—Arthur H. James, who led the republican party out of four years of political doldrums in Pennsylvania, was sworn in today as the 34th governor of the commonwealth formed by William Penn.

At the same time James resigned as superior court judge.

While a vast throng watched, the red-haired former "breaker boy" from the anthracite field said "I do" firmly after the oath read by Chief Justice John W. Kephart of the state supreme court.

A few moments before, James—still a superior court judge—administered the oath to his colleague, Lieutenant Governor Samuel S. Lewis, in the senate chamber.

James proceeded to the executive mansion to join outgoing Governor George H. Earle in a revival of olden glory. They rode from the mansion to the capitol in a horse-drawn victoria used for the past inaugurations.

Vincent Reddings Mark Wedding Anniversary: Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Redding, West High street, on Tuesday observed their fortieth wedding anniversary. They were married in St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, January 17, 1899, by the Rev. Father Henry Crist.

43 H. S. Boys Attend Show: A group of 43 boys of the Gettysburg high school, accompanied by Elmer H. Schriber, supervisor of vocational agriculture, went by bus Tuesday morning to Harrisburg where they attended the state farm show.

Floyd Kuhn and Donald Benner attended the show on Wednesday as judges in apples. William Collins, president of the local Future Farmers' association, attended a meeting Wednesday.

Bushman Farm Sold: Glenn Slaybaugh, of the Blue Ribbon orchards, has sold the Maurice Bushman farm, a mile from Arendtsville, to Roy Tate, Arendtsville.

Thursday Bridge Club Donates $125 to Hospital: Miss Sara Clark, superintendent at the Warner hospital, has announced a donation of $125 from Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, treasurer of the Thursday bridge club.

The money will be used in the physiotherapy department.

Frankfurter Attends White House Dinner: Washington, Jan. 20 (AP)—Felix Frankfurter, newly-confirmed supreme court justice, and his wife were among the 93 guests at a formal White House dinner last night honoring the court's members.

570,000 Attend State Farm Show: Harrisburg, Jan. 21 (AP)—With an attendance of about 570,000 persons in five days, the state farm show exceeded last year's "gate" by 30,000 show officials announced today.

The grand finale of the exhibition, Harrisburg's first indoor horse show, attracted 10,000 persons to the new arena building last night.

Today's Talk

WHO KNOWS YOU?

Is there anyone who really knows you? W. H. Hudson, one of the gentlest and most lovable of men, and one of the most beautiful writers about nature, tells in one of his books of the love that he had for his brother, "yet that brother said that of all the men whom he had ever known, he knew his brother (W. H. Hudson) the least!"

We know ourselves better than anyone else in all the world, yet we know so little about ourselves! How, then, can we adequately judge, criticize, or reprimand another? Herman Melville produced what is considered to be one of the great American classics in "Moby Dick," and he wrote a number of other great books, yet when he died no one seemed to know him, and there wasn't even a notice of his death in the New York Times. Few of his friends, including Nathaniel Hawthorne, really knew much of him, his family least of all, yet today books are being published about him, and ones appreciative of his great talent. And even these writers are puzzled about his ideas and personality.

You might as well bear in mind that no one will ever know you for what you are! By God alone, or perhaps in your own heart, are you known for what you are, and you must be content with that. But the more you distribute the best that is in you, the more will you be loved and known—and that will suffice.

It has often taken a century or more to come to the realization of greatness in a human being. It was several centuries before the publication and distribution of the simple and beautiful thoughts of Marcus Aurelius were first given to the world. Then people learned about the beautiful soul that this Emperor had.

Our supreme task in life should be to do the best that we know, to be just and kind, to make our lives count for something that benefits others, and the rest will take care of itself. By this doing, one can, as William James has so well said: "On waking up some fine morning, to find himself one of the competent ones of his generation, in whatsoever pursuit he may have singled out."

The weather man predicted snow. The old folks shook their heads. The children said, with eyes aglow: "Then we can use our sleds."

The weather man predicted cold. With wind at moderate rate. "We'll find it bitter," sighed the old. The young said: "We can skate!"

The weather man predicted sleet. The old said sadly: "We must slowly walk the slippery street." The young: "What fun 'twill be!"

Play Given in Fairfield Hall: "Billy's Goat," a three-act farce was presented Thursday and Saturday evenings in the Fairfield I.O.O.F. hall for the benefit of the Fairfield high school athletic association.

Members of the cast include Carl McCann, Evelyn Bowling, Madeleine Wertz, Dorothy Harbaugh, Helen Singley, Ethel Singley, Charles Heintzelman, Mildred Shultz, Andrew Kugler and Robert Musselman.

The production was directed by Ellmore H. Slaybaugh.

Senate Group Okays Hopkins: Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—The senate commerce committee approved today the nomination of Harry L. Hopkins for secretary of commerce.

The vote for Hopkins' nomination was 16 to 6, with all republican committee members voting "no." Hopkins, regarded as one of President Roosevelt's most intimate advisers, was subjected to critical questioning by committee members last week on his administration of the W.P.A.

Rotary Program: About 70 persons attended the dinner given by the Rotary club at the Cross Keys hotel Monday evening. Guests included wives and friends of the Rotarians and members of the Gettysburg Soroptimist club. Guest artists for the musical program were Miss Virginia Hershey, Miss Eva Sachs and Frederick Tilberg. President E. A. Meyer, presided.

FREAK WINTER WEATHER BRINGS MUCH HARDSHIP

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—Freakish winter weather has brought hardship to many parts of the earth and unprecedented mildness to others.

Meteorologists said seldom has a winter been so spotty—or, in the southern hemisphere, a summer so sizzling hot.

Extremes of temperature were reported from many regions of North America, where southern California had snow, the midwest blizzards of unusual violence and the east experienced almost springlike warmth.

Russia Is Warm
In Russia, where bitter cold is traditional and expected, inhabitants of some sections had not yet changed to the woolly Russian underwear. Some Russian rivers which in normal winters are excellent highways for sleighs and motor traffic were not frozen.

Blocked Berlin, short of fuel has so far experienced one of the mildest winters in years. The temperature climbed to 50 degrees Fahrenheit last Tuesday.

Southern Germany also was warm. Vacationists in Bavaria had been waiting a week for snow, and today skiing was impossible below an altitude of 9,000 feet. The temperature climbed to 55 degrees at Frankfurt on Wednesday.

Warm Winds Blow
The warm wind known as the "Foehn" was blowing in Bavaria and western Austria, causing avalanches in the mountains and bringing other unseasonable signs of spring.

Italy, after a touch of cold early this month, has been getting warmer steadily the past two weeks. Typical temperatures yesterday were 62 degrees at Rome, 41 at Milan, 48 at Naples and 60.8 at Palermo.

Scandinavian lands and west Europe also were unusually warm.

In the United Kingdom it was warm, murky and stormy. Gale warning signals have been flying in most sea areas about Great Britain. It was bad weather for ships and planes and there have been numerous mishaps and calls for help from the sea.

One of the strangest weather reports came from South Africa, where the summer is just about the hottest ever. Physicians said it was difficult to take the temperature of patients because the air was much hotter than persons running high fevers.

Margaret's Diet Is Disturbing To Queen
Harrisburg, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Potato Blossom Queen wants to know if Margaret Truman has given up eating potatoes.

In a telegram to the President's daughter, Queen Mildred Gibbs Deuber, Myerstown R. 2, said Pennsylvania's potato industry was "deeply distressed" about a published report she stopped eating potatoes.

"If not true," the wire said, "will deeply appreciate your so informing me and if true, will consider it a great favor if you will let me know who advised you to give up eating potatoes."

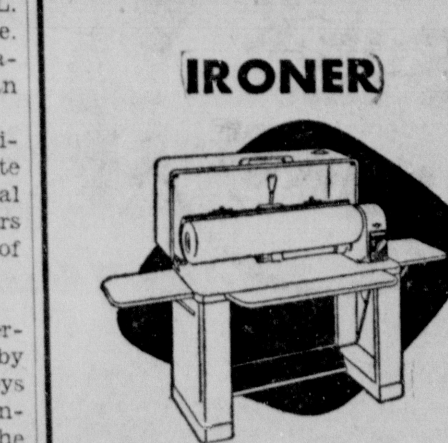

The Potato Blossom Queen, picked by the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Cooperative association, recently reigned at the mammoth 1949 State Farm Show.

40 GUESTS ARE ROUTED BY FIRE

Wilmington, N. C., Jan. 22 (AP)—A four-hour general alarm fire raged through the Orton hotel early Friday, routed 40 guests, and spread to six adjoining buildings with a loss estimated at about $1,000,000.

The fire, which firemen described as one of the worst in the history of this Atlantic seaboard town, started in a women's shoe store adjacent to the five-story, 100-room hotel and soon engulfed the entire structure.

The 40 guests registered in the hotel had ample time to reach safety, said A. Abrams, owner of the building. Police said no one was injured in the fire, which was brought under control about 4:30 a. m. EST, but two firemen were overcome by smoke and required hospital treatment.

Abrams said the hotel, of brick construction, was a complete loss.

GALES TO HIT NAVAL CONVOY

En Route to Kodiak Island, Jan. 22 (AP)—The first taste of weather in which the "Battle of Kodiak Island" will be fought next month may be experienced by the navy's assault force this week-end.

"Heavy gales which lashed Honolulu last Saturday are moving north-eastward to threaten the line of the convoy," Lt. (jg) L. P. Halloran, staff aerologist for the assault force, said yesterday.

"We can expect a gale of about 38 knots to cross our path about January 23," he said. "This wind may whip up heavy seas 12 to 15 feet high."

"Although these conditions aren't likely to endanger the operation, they will give men an inkling of what to expect off Alaska."

Servicemen who participated in the Kiska-Attu campaigns of World War II encountered similar—and much worse—weather conditions.

The closer this convoy of five ships and 1,500 Marines approaches Kodiak, the greater will be the danger of running into "Williwaw" gales ranging from 90 to 120 miles per hour. Cold winds pour down the mountains in this area with force sufficient to scatter men like tumbleweeds.

Boy Scout Rescues Baby From Air Vent

Toronto, Jan. 22 (AP)—Boy Scout Bunny Ricketts, 12, rescued baby David Bond from an air vent leading to a hot air furnace in the infant's home.

While the mother called the fire department, the boy took the air vent apart and pulled out the soot-covered baby.

He said he was prepared for the emergency because "once before I dropped some toys down the vent and I got them out, so I knew how to take it apart."

HIGH COURT IS ASKED TO ALTER WAGE-HOUR RULE

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Five government departments have asked the Supreme court to reconsider its recent decision applying the wage hour law to U. S. military bases on foreign soil.

They say the decision, if permitted to stand, will hamper the nation's foreign policies and defense plans and cost the government many hundreds of millions of dollars.

Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall told the court its ruling may even cancel foreign governments to cancel agreements permitting maintenance of U. S. bases. He said it might hamper the use of secret bases the U. S. is building on foreign soil.

May Affect Japan
Royall said the decision probably also will require applying the wage-hour law's 40-cent minimum wage and overtime provisions to workers in occupied areas in Europe and Japan.

"It is hoped," the Army secretary said, "the court may be induced to set aside the initial decision upon a full consideration of the grave and far-reaching implications that stem from this decision."

A memorandum filed with the court by the justice department asking for reconsideration of the December 6 decision was joined by the State, Army, Navy and Labor departments.

That decision said that workers at the U. S. military base in Bermuda, obtained from Great Britain in 1941 on a 99-year lease, are entitled to the protection of the wage-hour law.

The court ruled the Bermuda base is a "possession" of this country so far as the wage-hour law is concerned.

"Disrupts Economy"
Many other governments have their own pay standards which, when exceeded, "seriously disrupt the local economy," the justice department memorandum to the court said.

Increased labor costs will apply immediately, Royall said, to bases costing more than $240,000,000 now under construction in the Philippines, Newfoundland, Okinawa, Iceland, Greece, Bermuda and Canada.

Royall said there are a number of secret bases under construction on foreign soil, too, and application of the wage-hour law to them may mean lawsuits disclosing their extent and purpose.

Littlestown

Littlestown. The 43rd annual banquet of the Masons and their wives of Littlestown and Silver Run and Union Mills, Md., will be held on Friday evening, February 18, in the parish house of St. Mary's Lutheran church, Silver Run. The Rev. Nevin E. Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed church, Hanover, and a member of Door-to-Virtue lodge, Westminster, will be the guest speaker. Special music will be furnished by the Littlestown Men's chorus. The committee on arrangements consists of Luther D. Snyder, chairman, and Holman L. Sell, representing Littlestown and Weldon Nusbaum, Union Mills, Md., representing Maryland.

Installation rites were held on Thursday evening for the recently elected officers of Littlestown Castle No. 31 of the Ancient Order, Knights of the Mystic Chain, in their lodge rooms in the P. O. S. of A. hall. The following officers were installed: Past commander, Richard Hartlaub; commander, Luther Myers; vice commander, Donald Currens; marshal, Herman Newman; chaplain, Raymond Spangler; inside guard, Albert Sterner; and outside guard, Meredith Schwartz. These rites were in charge of Lloyd L. Staveland, Littlestown, who is district deputy select commander.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Mason and Dixon Memorial Post No. 6954, VFW, will be held on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the post home, West King street.

The January meeting of the Littlestown borough council will be held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the office of the borough secretary, Roger J. Keefer, North Queen street.

Walter Warwick, Schotties hotel, is spending the week-end in Boston visiting his family.

Mrs. Ray Reichart, Littlestown, R. 2, was hostess to the January meeting of the Missionary society of St. Luke's church, White Hall, which was held at her home on Friday evening. Despite the inclement weather, there was a good attendance of the membership. Mrs. Roscoe Klinefelter was the leader and read the scripture lesson of the evening. Her topic was, "Christian Woman and the Message of her Church to the World." Readings on the topic were given by Mrs. Parr Breighner, Mrs. Edward Breighner, Mrs. Earl Flickinger, Mrs. Ray Reichart, Miss Betty Hartlaub, Mrs. John H. Hartlaub and Mrs. Guy McCale. Mrs. Guy McCabe, vice president, conducted the business meeting. The next meeting will be held Friday, February 18, at the home of Mrs. Edward Breighner, White Hall. Miss Betty Hartlaub was selected as the leader for the February meeting. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Ralph A. White, North Queen street, returned home on Friday after attending a dealer's review of the new 1949 Pontiac Silver Streaks in Washington. More than 450 dealers and their sales personnel from Districts 1, 2 and 3 of the Washington area attended this meeting which was conducted by L. W. Ward, general sales manager of the Pontiac Motors Division, and saw the new cars for the first time. Slides, stage props, movies and skits were used by department heads from the central office to present the latest dealer programs covering merchandising of parts, accessories, service and used cars. The dealers were informed that the new 1949 Pontiac Silver Streaks feature two completely new and distinct lines of cars. Entirely new to the Pontiac is the Chieftain line. Its companion is the new Streamliner series. Both are mounted on a 120-inch wheel base. The former Torpedo series has been discontinued. They were also informed that Pontiac will make 10 body styles for 1949 and that they expect to exceed the production of 1948 which was 245,000 cars.

MANY PUZZLED ABOUT TRUMAN'S 'BOLD NEW PLAN'

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—President Truman will leave the whole world puzzled until he explains precisely what he means by his "bold new program."

It certainly is not clear now. He mentioned this "new program" in his inaugural talk Thursday. He said it's one of several ways to stop the spread of Communism: By helping "backward" countries.

The most puzzling parts of what he said were the two words "investor" and "guarantees."

Two Ways To Help

Start with "investor"—He said that the United States, together with other nations, should help countries that need help in two ways:

1. With our skill and knowledge. This might mean (a) helping them build factories, machines, powerlines, railroads, or (b) helping them to improve their farming.

2. With "capital investment." There the puzzle starts. What does "capital investment" mean? It could mean one of two things in this case, or both:

1. This country, and others, might offer money out of a central pool to help a needy country get developed and modernized.

2. There might be a large-scale effort to get private investors, like businessmen or bankers, to sink money in a country.

Investments Not New

If they did so, they'd do it to make a profit. That's what they're in business for. Americans have many investments abroad now but Mr. Truman probably has in mind new investments on a large scale.

Drop the word "investor" for a minute and take up "guarantees"—Mr. Truman said "guarantees" the investor must be balanced by guarantees in the interest of the people whose resources and whose labor go into these developments. But what does "guarantees" mean and how far-reaching is it?

Suppose an American oil company was willing to spend a lot of money developing an oil field in a country that needed a push toward prosperity.

What Kind Of Guarantee?

And suppose the head of that country told the company, "We give you our solemn promise that our government will not seize these oil fields, after you develop them, and take them away from you." Did the President mean that kind of guarantee?

But suppose Communists in that country began to try to overthrow the government there. Any promise made to an outside oil company before would mean nothing to them.

They'd seize the oil fields and blandly announce they were cancelling out any deals made by the old government. What meaning would "guarantees" have in a case like that—unless this country stepped in, interfered in the internal affairs of that country, and prevented the Communist from getting control?

And how would other nations look on that, since we have talked so much about the right of each nation to settle its own affairs?

Fire Forces Plane Down At Kansas City

Kansas City, Jan. 22 (AP)—A huge DC-6 American Airlines plane carrying George Jessel and Mrs. Gene Kelly, wife of the actor, as passengers made a precautionary landing Friday without incident.

The plane, scheduled to fly non-stop from Chicago to Los Angeles, set down here after warnings flashed a false alarm of fire in the tail heater.

The plane while flying over Kirksville, Mo., radioed there were indications of a fire in the tail section. It landed here a few minutes later for a check.

Pilot William A. Cohn said there was no smoke and the plane would continue on to Los Angeles with its 23 passengers later if CAA officials gave clearance. Cohn said the passengers knew of the alarm, but there was no confusion. The flight originated in New York. It was not scheduled to stop here.

ASK RATE INCREASE

Harrisburg, Jan. 22 (AP)—The Public Utility Commission is considering an application from the Pennsylvania Railroad for permission to charge $1 extra for seats on its two all-coach trains. The fee for reservation of an individual reclining chair seat on "The Jeffersonian" and "The Trail Blazer," to become effective February 1, regardless of the length of the trip.

SHORT-LIVED GIFT

San Mateo, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—George F. Ford had a gift automobile for about 15 minutes Thursday. His family bought it for him as a surprise. He was quite surprised when it stalled on Southern Pacific railroad tracks. Ford and passerby tried to push it then gave up and leaped to safety as a commuter train demolished it.

The little German city of Weimar, capital of Thuringia, was the birthplace of the short-lived Weimar Republic, the home of Goethe and Schiller and, for more than 40 years, of Franz Liszt.

Riding with Russell

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S.A.E.

About the only way you can reason with some speed maniacs is to "Say It With Flowers."

Try A Different Speed

One of the strangest things about handling a car is the way most of us forget to try a different speed if things are not running smoothly. If there is a sticky valve, for instance, an engine will run better faster. This is often true if the engine tends to be disturbed by vapor lock. On the other hand, it often helps the situation to cut speed ten to twenty miles per hour, especially if there is any suspicion that the lower radiator hose is collapsing. Often such collapse doesn't take place until the car is going over 35 mph. When his engine started acting up one driver thought he was doing the right thing by hurrying to his destination, not realizing that if he had just driven more moderately he would not have had the trouble at all. Engine missing at the higher speeds was due merely to a weak breaker arm spring.

Items For The Notebook

Carburetors with cast iron float bowls are particularly likely to develop the habit of encouraging fuel to leak out by climbing the walls. Capillary attraction does it. Less common with die-cast bowls.

A lot of trouble with the fans of hot water car heaters is that they have not been used enough. Bushings for the motor are self-lubricated but, when dried out, will respond to a treatment of penetrating oil.

A thumping noise heard when an engine is idling or when its speed is changed may be due to a broken motor mount.

Cause And Effect

This one concerns a friend's boat, but it certainly does suggest greater thought in diagnosis for any motorist who is trying to figure out what ails the old bus. While he calmed on his trip up the Atlantic the skipper got the auxiliary motor into action but found that every little while the thing would quit. At such times water was found in the cylinders, necessitating removal of the head. The trouble was diagnosed as everything from a leaky head gasket to a cracked block. Finally arriving in port, my friend consulted an old timer with motors, who scratching his head, soon came up with the decision that the coil probably was bad. That water in the cylinders ad thrown everyone off guard. It was an effect, not a cause. When the engine died out, water was sucked back through the exhaust pipe!

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"One of the things I learned as a lad in this business is not to jump to conclusions. I wish some of my customers could learn it before they go broke ordering repairs that are not necessary."

"Only today a chap came in here with a long face and a mighty short bank account. He noticed smoke at the exhaust of his car and, checking the spark plugs, found them quite oily. That was his cue to take a flyer on the idea that the engine needed new rings. Yet after the ring job the situation was no better than before. I felt just a bit like delivering a sermon when I showed him the punctured diaphragm of the vacuum pump. Oil had been sucking from the crankcase to the intake manifold, thence into the engine."

Hot Plugs and Cold

One of the leading spark plug companies has suggested a simple way to understand the difference between hot and cold plugs in what is known as the "heat range." Judging plugs by the length of their nose, the insulator, just figure that the farther this nose has to carry heat from the points, the hotter it is. A shorter nose carries the heat away more quickly and is thus a colder type of plug. Obviously a cold type plug is for an engine that runs hot while a hotter plug serves as a means of holding to a minimum trouble from oil getting on plug points.

Toward Better Starting

Here's a little tip that will help you when you're in deep water trying to figure out why the engine doesn't start:

Since it helps to know whether the reluctance is due to a weak battery

it is quite proper to switch on the lights to observe how much they dim during the cranking process. But why switch on the headlights when the parking lights will furnish clue enough? If you use the headlights you will be pulling down the battery unnecessarily, and this may be just enough to make the test the straw that breaks the battery's back.

Just For The Record

Since automobiles first came into the American picture there have been over 2,500 nameplates with some 1,500 producing companies. . . . There's an upswing of interest in those little curb signals which warn the driver when he's too near the curbing with his whitewall tires, fenders or hub caps. . . . Smartest idea in riding comfort is the special type of car seat cushion in which the number of spring coils can be increased or diminished to fit drivers' and passengers' requirements. . . . Watch for some unusual features in commercial cars where design doesn't have to bow so low to tradition. . . . Fluid clutches are now being used in commercial cars, which ought to answer the question as to their reliability.

Checking The Shocks

Because a test of shock absorbers is to push down on the bumpers and then release suddenly to see if the car levels off promptly as it should the legend has grown that all is well if the shocks offer strong resistance. Actually this may mean that some internal part is broken or that the adjustment is off base. Clogged valves in shocks will also cause this hard action. Now and again stuck pistons are found to cause this condition.

Of course, make allowances for the weather. On a cold morning, the shocks won't be as limber as in the good old summertime.

Breaking It Down

When you write me about "funny" steering of the car you can save a lot of time by trying to break down the subject into its three components. What troubles you may be a steering gear condition such as looseness, tightness, or shock in the wheel. Then again your trouble may be plainly a front wheel condition such as tramp or shimmy. The third general classification of so-called steering trouble is easily detected as a tendency for the car to pull one way or the other, to wander, dart or dive.

Give me this much lead and we'll get to the answer far quicker. It's a big subject. Breaking it down into one of the big three classes helps a lot.

Having Their Troubles

Q. The engine of my car seems to have the habit of jerking at car speeds of 35 miles an hour. It strikes me as being something like a mild vapor lock condition. You would think there might be some water in the gas. J. N. McB.

A. I would replace the flexible hose between the fuel pump and the main fuel line. There may be an air leak here. The pump will suck air if this tube isn't in good condition.

Q. My car wanders over the road whenever the surface is uneven. I don't notice this when the road is smooth. The trouble is more pronounced when there are passengers in the rear. W. L. J.

A. Better have those rear springs re-arched. They're weak. This upsets the normal front-end caster.

Q. Is there any way to take up on a clutch that slips? D. S.

A. There is no adjustment other than to make sure that the pedal is properly positioned. If the pedal shank strikes the underside of the toeboard the clutch may not be properly engaged and may slip.

Q. I am troubled with hard shifting. This is true of all speeds. The car is equipped with a vacuum controlled transmission, so things should be just the opposite. This trouble came on about six months ago. S. W. N., Jr.

A. You'll find there is a leak in the vacuum line or one of its connections.

Q. How high should fuel pump pressure be? Wm. L. L.

A. Not over 4 pounds.

Mr. Russell will answer inquiries regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford.

DUFF REVIEWS ACHIEVEMENTS OF TWO YEARS

Harrisburg, Jan. 22 (AP)—Pennsylvania's school health program is making "noteworthy contributions" to the health of children, says Gov. James H. Duff.

The governor singled out the program for special praise last night as he reviewed accomplishments of the first two years of his administration.

Duff said the program is "now operating in high gear, with better than 90 per cent coverage of pupils, teachers and employees."

The program provides for complete medical and dental examinations every two years for all children of school age, together with follow-up treatment of pupils found to have remedial physical defects.

"Magnificent Program" Surveying generally the achievements of his administration, the governor said "Pennsylvania's population, industrial activity, employment and payrolls have been more alive than they are today." He listed major accomplishments in mental health activities, conservation and stream clearance.

Duff also said Pennsylvania's general health has been advanced "vigorously" in the past two years. He said twelve heart clinics have already been established and more will be provided. In addition six new tuberculosis clinics and three pneumothorax centers have been constructed by the state Health Department.

Duff said that under the state's mental health program a total of $76,240.00 was spent for improvements during the past two years.

At the same time he called on the general assembly to "x x x make the kind of appropriations at this session that are necessary to carry forward the magnificent program x x x."

Chapter 13

Betty led the hysterical Mrs. Harper into the small, crowded bedroom.

There was much to be done. Orders from Doctor Newton came thick and fast and Betty found herself obeying them with a speed and efficiency that would have surprised her had there been time to think.

There was no time to think of herself, no time to be afraid.

Then the doctor's voice called: "Nurse! Up front, please."

Nurse! He had recognized her efforts to the extent of calling her by that respected name. Nothing like this had happened either during her hospital apprenticeship or during Aunt Minnie's illness. She was not entitled to do it now, but her heart swelled with gratitude at the thought that he had found her useful enough to bestow the courtesy title upon her.

"Take little Eddie out to the car," he said, passing the youngster over to her. "Tell the kids to look after him. Tell 'em they can forget about the polishing job. Matter of fact, I forgot about them. They've probably rubbed all the paint off by this time."

As she started to leave the room with the child, he called after her. "Hurry back, please. I'll be needing you. Little Janet's resting quietly now, but Mrs. Harper's in labor. It would happen at a time like this." There was no hint of impatience in his voice. It was clear that the last remark was not a complaint but a simple statement of fact.

An hour later the Harper household had been increased by another small son, bringing the total progeny up to six. By the time 7 o'clock had rolled around four hungry children had been fed huge bowls of warm cereal and Betty had added cooking and meal service to her list of extracurricular achievements.

Shortly thereafter a very tired and harassed Doctor Newton came into the kitchen where Betty was cleaning up the supper dishes. For the first time he seemed to be aware of her inauspicious role in the afternoon's proceedings.

"This is a terrible way to treat a girl," he said glumly. "Invite her out on a date—and then put her to work. Sorry, Betty. I told you I should have known better than to plan a trip to the beach. If I had the sense God gave a half-wit, I'd leave dates alone."

Betty's smile was genuine. "I wish you wouldn't apologize," she said. "I'll admit it hasn't been much of a picnic, but I haven't minded it. I'm glad I could help, and I know you didn't plan it this way."

He sat down in a kitchen chair and his whole body seemed to slump. It occurred to Betty that he was more than tired. There were worry lines in his forehead and the expression in his gray eyes suggested defeat. Betty was instantly contrite.

"There's nothing wrong, is there?" she asked uneasily. "But of course not. You're just tired, that's all. I thought Mrs. Harper looked pretty good, considering. The baby's sort of cute. They'll probably name it for you. Want to bet?"

When he didn't answer she laughed a little shakily and started to add, "I've an idea, it's the only payment you'll get," just to show there were no hard feelings on her part, but the expression on his face was not one to encourage levity.

"Oh, yes," he said, "they're all right. The baby is as ugly as sin, but a sturdy little rascal if ever there was one. Mrs. Harper's doing fine." There was a brief pause; then he added:

"It's the little girl, Janet. I'm worried about." His face clouded with something more than professional anxiety. "It's too early to tell, of course, but it looks like a rheumatic heart condition. Rheumatic fever they call it. There's little one can do for it, especially under the circumstances. It's a long hard pull, even under the best of conditions. Harper's got no money for specialized treatments and he won't accept charity. Strange combination of shiftlessness and stubborn pride—Harper."

As a comparatively young doctor and a newcomer, he would be open to misunderstanding—perhaps criticism—in the treatment of a disease in which there was still so much difference of opinion.

He would be handicapped by lack of funds and intelligent cooperation on the part of the parents of the child. It was obvious, however, that his concern was not for himself but for his small patient.

In that moment of understanding all of Betty's secret resentment was forgotten. His impatience, his cavalier treatment of her throughout the busy afternoon, was understandable now. And his apologies regarding the beach trip that hadn't come off. She felt that if he apologized once more and cited the fact that he should leave dates alone, she would scream.

Presently he got up, saying, "Of course it's too late for your beach trip. I hope you don't mind too much. I had no business making a date. We'll be leaving in a little while. At the moment there's nothing more I can do. I've sent the kids over to the hospital with a note. I'm getting a nurse out here if I have to tear the hospital apart with my bare hands." He spoke in a matter-of-fact voice, as if getting a nurse and tearing the hospital apart were simply a part of an ordinary day's work.

Betty didn't answer, and she didn't scream. She dried the last cereal bowl and put it on the shelf, resolved that she would not repeat what had come to be practically a theme-song: "No, I don't mind. If Doctor George Newton didn't know by this time that she was playing on his side—well, there was nothing she could do about it."

Chapter 14

It was some time later before they were back in the car making their way through the makeshift driveway in the general direction of the highway beyond. The nurse, a highly competent middle-aged woman, had arrived and taken charge. Doctor Newton had given her full instructions and promised to return later that night to look in on the two patients.

When they reached the highway he did not turn in the direction of home as Betty had expected. He turned the car south, saying as he did so:

"You're still getting that trip to the beach, young lady."

"But it's night," she protested.

"It must be almost 9 o'clock."

"Yes, so it is," he agreed, unperturbed. "I know it doesn't make sense, but I said I'd take you and—I'm taking you. You won't get the sunshine I promised you, but—well, you're going. We've still got to eat. We can eat there."

"But I can't go out to dinner like this." She reached up and tried to smooth down her hair, retied the ribbon which had fallen over one ear. She could do nothing about the dress. "Just look at me—I took terrible!"

"You look sweet," he said unexpectedly, but he did not look at her. "If it would make you feel any better, take a look at me. However, it doesn't matter. We're going to a place they call 'Playland' where the food's good and clothes don't matter."

Soon they arrived at a long, low building whose big neon sign proclaimed it to be "Playland." The place was ablaze with lights and the sound of gay voices intermingled with the strains of popular music floated out through the open windows.

As they made their way toward the side door, Betty saw a car that looked very much like Gertrude's, but she assured herself that she was mistaken. Besides, Gertrude, with all of her tearing around, was always in before dark.

Later, when they had finished a really enjoyable dinner and George Newton was ordering dessert, Betty thought she saw Gertrude's bright blonde curls and slim figure among the dancers in an adjoining room where a five-piece orchestra was giving out with the latest boogie-woogie tune. But a second glance through the archway that led into the dance hall convinced her she was again mistaken.

"Would you like to dance?" George Newton's voice broke into her thoughts.

"I'd love to," she answered eagerly, pushing back her plate.

Betty was conscious only of his arms around her, his head bent down till his lips almost touched her hair—almost, but not quite. She knew she was in love with Doctor George Newton and she hated herself for it. He had done everything he could to discourage her.

It might have been why she smiled with unusual warmth at the red-headed young man who stood idly jiggling a pin-ball machine in the big informal dining room. She even went so far as to wave at him when he smiled back at her.

"That's Jack Barnes," she told her companion when they were seated. "He did me a big favor when I first came to Carrolton. This is the first time I've seen him since then."

"Yes, I know young Barnes. His father owns about half of Carroll county, but the kid's not too well liked in town." As he spoke he smiled and nodded a friendly greeting to the young man in question. Barnes replied with an equally friendly salute.

The conversation was interrupted by a waitress who came to say that Doctor Newton was wanted on the telephone.

"It's the Harpers," he told Betty as he got up from the table. "I left word with the nurse that she was to call me here if she needed any further instructions. Be back in a minute."

While he was at the telephone Jack Barnes came over and spoke to Betty. She asked him to sit down, and for a moment they chatted about inconsequential things. He started to get up when he saw Newton coming back, but the latter held out a detaining hand and sat down on the bench beside Betty.

"Don't go, Jack," he said. "I've just had a hurry-up call at the Harpers'. I—well, I was wondering if you'd mind taking Betty home."

"Mind? I don't know of anything I'd like better," said Jack. He got up, saying to Betty, "Sit where you are and don't move. I'll be with you in a sec. Got to speak to a fellow in the band. He was counting on hitching a ride with me, so I'll tell him I've got other plans."

When Jack returned she smiled up into his eyes and said, "I was thinking it would be nice if we stayed here awhile and did a little rug-cutting, as you call it."

"Nothing to stop us—now that Killjoy's gone." He took her hand and helped her to her feet.

No matter how hard she tried to concentrate on the business at hand she could not blot out a picture that seemed to be engraved in the back of her mind. It was the picture of a small, cluttered house crowded with underprivileged youngsters; and of a tired, harassed young doctor bending over the cot-bed of a sick child.

Yes, she would have to forget Doctor Newton—and quickly.

PEACE TALKS HIT SNAG ON BOUNDARIES

By L. S. CHAKALES

Rhodes, Jan. 22 (AP)—Israel and Egypt have become snagged on the thorny question of determining Negev boundaries in their armistice talks.

A United Nations spokesman said both sides were in disagreement over important points concerning boundaries to be observed in southern Palestine. He added, however, that they were in accord on a number of other points in the boundary matter.

In Tel Aviv Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok told the state council yesterday that Israel and Lebanon were negotiating but had not yet reached the decisive stage of straight armistice talks.

No Armistice Yet
Shertok added that Israel and Trans-Jordan were in communication, but no official Armistice negotiations have started.

Details of the Israeli-Egyptian talks were still under black-out. Dr. Ralph Bunche, the acting United Nations mediator, saw both delegations twice yesterday.

The U.N. spokesman said that once the complex boundary question is threshed out, the issue of withdrawing and reducing forces would be solved easily.

Denial By Bunche

There was no indication when the next joint meeting will be held. Unofficially it is known that the calling of the next meeting will indicate armistice terms have been reached.

The spokesman pointed out that while present talks will be restricted to Egyptian-Israeli disputes, any other Arab state is free to come here and negotiate an armistice under Bunche.

Meanwhile Bunche flatly denied press reports quoting British Air Minister Arthur Henderson as saying British planes were sent over the Egyptian frontier at the mediator's request.

Bunche declared he had no knowledge of the flight, in which five RAF planes were shot down by the Israelis.

9,100 TOWNS IN NEED OF NEW SEWAGE PLANTS

New York, Jan. 22 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, federal works administrator, said Friday that 9,100 towns in the nation need complete new sewage systems.

Improvements in sewage systems are needed in 10,000 other towns, he said, and 81 American communities have no sewers at all. He did not name the towns.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the New York state sewage works association, Fleming said: "Eight states—California, Illinois, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, each need more than $100,000,000 worth of sewerage works."

He said New York state heads the list, with a need for "something over a billion dollars" worth of sewerage works, or about 30 per cent of the national total.

Fleming discussed federal legislation which provides aid to states and

Double Anniversary For Governor Duff

Harrisburg, Jan. 22 (AP)—Governor James H. Duff celebrated a double anniversary Friday—his 66th birthday and start of the third year of his four-year term as chief executive of Pennsylvania.

Business as usual was the order of the day, with Duff deep in plans for the administration's program for consideration of the 1949 session of the general assembly.

The governor will make a radio speech over a state-wide network tonight (6:15 p. m., EST), on the record of his administration and its executives. Later, he and Mrs. Duff will entertain members of the cabinet at a dinner at the executive mansion.

localities in planning and construction sewage plants needed to prevent pollution of surface waters.

He expressed hope localities will "join wholeheartedly in this national campaign for safer, cleaner waters."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Memoriam 3

WANEY—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear mother, Jennie Myers Tawney, who was called home 25 years ago, January 25, 1924, and my dear father who departed this life 9 years ago, January 22, 1940.

There's an open gate at the end of the road,
Through which each must go alone,
And there in a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims his own.
Beyond the gate each loved one finds happiness and rest.
And there in comfort in the thought,
That a loving God knows best.

By their daughter,
Mrs. R. V. MacNeil.

Illinois Farm Wife Is Champ Trapper

Jerseyville, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Anna Scott, a farm wife, has been nominated as the champion woman trapper of Illinois. Grover Pearce, Jersey county clerk, cited Mrs. Scott's bag of 21 fox pelts as the highest individual total in the county. She collected a bounty of $42—$2 for each pelt.

Mrs. Scott decided she would take over the job of trapping foxes after her husband said he was too busy with his farm work. She also was interested in protecting her poultry from the foxes.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Clifford M. Barnes, Jr., a student at the local high school, was the winner of the free phonograph record awarded recently at the opening of Emory W. Sell's record bar.

Mervin Deardorff Jacobs, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin D. Jacobs, R. 2, received a bachelor of science degree in the industrial arts course from Millersville State Teachers' college last week. Jacobs is a graduate of the East Berlin high school, and served for some time in the army overseas during the war before resuming his studies at Millersville where his sister, Mary, is also a student. He was a member while there of the Industrial Arts club, Theatre Arts, and the Rod and Gun club. In August, the young man was married to Miss Lillian B. Pluenneke, San Antonio, Tex.

The Junior class of the local high school presented a comedy, "Hot Water Henry" at the school auditorium during the week with these students forming the cast: Jo Ann Dissinger, Betty Gruver, Raymond Lease, Nancy E. Glatfelter, Gerald Slothour, Ray W. Wagner, Judy Altland, Raymond Miller, Frances Lee Elgin, Elvin C. Lau, Jeanne Hoffman and Donald Markey. Miss Mildred Miller of the faculty acted as coach. Miss Bettie Tierney was among those who attended the outdoor broadcast of the "101 Ranch Boys" in York, on Monday, for the benefit of the March of Dimes to combat polio.

Recent visitors to local relatives were Mrs. William Hertz, Jr., and children, Frances, Claire, Billy and Eleanor, Harrisburg. Mrs. Hertz is a former local girl, Miss Ruth R. Jacobs, daughter of Paul E. Jacobs. William Bechtel, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bechtel, R. 2, has returned to his training in the Army Air Corps after a visit to his home. Mr. and Mrs. Gettys L. Montgomery, York, were recently entertained by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Reynolds.

Harold M. Boyer and Howard Albright, R. 2, were recent visitors to Punta Gorda, Fla., where their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hinkel, are spending the winter. Two children of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Otto, who recently moved to town from Connecticut, have been enrolled in the parochial school of Paradise Catholic church of which the family will be members. The Otto family are residing at the Ray Messinger property, Berlin Heights.

Mrs. Ida Hammond and daughter, Mrs. May Sedlack, R. 2, recently entertained a group of Baltimore friends. Mrs. Sedlack is able to be about after several days' confinement to bed by illness. Preparations are being made for the marriage of Miss Janet Mae Wolf, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolf, to Glenn Wehler, Franklintown. Both are former students at the local high school.

Larry, five-year-old son of Mr.

TRUMAN READY TO GET BACK TO WORK AGAIN

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, Jan. 22 (P)—The inauguration festivities behind him, President Truman shed his party clothes today with a promise to work at pushing the Democratic platform through Congress. Still brisk and smiling, Mr. Truman went home at 11:10 last night for his first full night's sleep in days, after telling party followers his list of campaign pledges "was not a scrap of paper."

It was another busy day for the President, most of it spent in the company of Vice President Barkley. The two were in high humor.

Shakes Hands With 1,400

As the day ended, Mr. Truman commented: "I don't think this country ever had a President and Vice President who were more congenial." The President stayed only 25 minutes at the Kentucky State Society's Inaugural ball for Barkley at the Shoreham hotel.

Earlier he had shaken hands with 1,400 guests at a reception by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder—and had followed that with an appearance at a similar affair given by Senator J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman.

He had had less than three hours of sleep the night before and only four and a half hours Wednesday night.

Pleads for Cooperation

"It's been a wonderful few days," he told the Kentuckians. "But I'm glad it comes only once every four years."

It was at the McGrath reception the seal and sea lion.

that Mr. Truman made it clear he has every intention of keeping his campaign promises, if he gets backing from Congress and the people.

He repeated his plea for cooperation at the party for Barkley. "We must not only have the support of the legislative branch, but also of the people in order to do those things for which we got elected and for which the Democratic party stands," he said.

The walrus is closely related to the seal and sea lion.

A FALSE DEED THAT IS INDEED FALSE

I indeed feel sorry for the party who has recently said that "Wolf Supply Co. is going out of business."

This statement is growing rapidly and is speeding along, as if powered with atomic energy.

It can be indeed a large volume of business obtained by using this false method; but the gain now may be the loss later.

I wish to correct this statement by passing these few words along to all my customers of KASCO FEEDS, and also to those who are not fully satisfied with the feed you are now using "THAT WE ARE NOT GOING OUT OF THE FEED BUSINESS," but do expect to go in bigger and better.

Since KASCO FEEDS are all laboratory tested, will prove to the user, that the feed is not off balance and is not changing in quality from day to day.

Our job grinding for you farmers who have your own grain is greatly appreciated, which again is gradually being done under the supervision of the KASCO FEED LABORATORIES, thereby mixing an evenly balanced feed regardless of the type of grain you may have, whether for hogs or dairy.

Will you kindly stop at our office and get a KASCO GUIDE BOOK on dairy, hogs and poultry and learn why KASCO is cheaper even though it costs slightly more. START THOSE CHICKS ON KASCO TOMORROW.

Harry E. Trimpey, Mgr.
